11	CORRESPONDENCE
11.1	Email from Mr Cross re number of Parish Councillors – Mr Cross feels we have a disproportionate amount of Councillors when compared to neighbouring councils. He feels we should reduce the number of Councillors as we often have vacancies. He feels this prevents democracy as we never have a contested election, that the council becomes stale and does not give others the opportunity to join. Mr Reeves said the number has been unchanged since inception of the Council in 1821. The Clerk said often having vacancies actually increases the opportunity for others to join should they wish. An election is quite costly to the Council and would still only happen if there were more people standing than seats. Mr Fletcher said he sees no need to change numbers, the more seats there are then the more variety of input there is. The Clerk will ask Cllr Rivett how numbers are decided and what is involved should we wish to change.	FB
